Brooklyn Landon: Launch + Outreach

Santa Barbara, California | October 1, 2026

Page 1: Launch the business

- Positioning: Children's author and a former lead Montessori teacher in Vietnam. Her dog has been evaluated and registered for visits with children, as confirmed by the founder.
- Offer: Paid, interactive readings for children ages 4-7 and caregivers: stories, animal facts, feelings, confidence, and kindness. Propose one introductory visit or six visits every other week over approximately three months, with short parent take-home practices.
- Buyer: Libraries and family organizations purchase the program. Families participate without needing to buy a book. Agree fees privately; no amounts are set here.
- Location: Start in Santa Barbara, Goleta, Montecito, and Carpinteria. Arrange statewide visits around confirmed bookings; group distant events into trips rather than assuming repeated fortnightly travel.

First month: four actions

- Prepare: One-page program description, author photo, book information, and dog-registration documentation. Confirm duration, supervision, venue rules, and paid-work insurance before booking.
- Introduce: Contact five well-matched organizations per week; use their official proposal routes. Start with libraries, both YMCAs, one Club contact, Storyteller, and Starr King.
- Discuss: Ask about ages, dates, caregiver participation, presenter purchasing, and animal policy. Confirm deliverables and host responsibilities in writing.
- Track: Record contacts, replies, next steps, accepted bookings, delivered visits, and payments separately. Proposed first-month success: five buyer conversations and two proposal requests; these are targets, not forecasts.

Local prospects: tap names for official sources

Organization	First contact / proposed fit
Santa Barbara Public Library	Submit the partnership form. YouthServices@SantaBarbaraCA.gov; official directory. Family reading; plans 3-6 months ahead.
Goleta Valley Library	805-964-7878. Ask for children's programming and an appropriate site during construction.
Carpinteria Community Library	Official contact form or 805-684-4314. Ask for children's programming.
Santa Barbara YMCA / Montecito YMCA	805-687-7727 / 805-969-3288. Ask for youth/family programming.
United Boys & Girls Clubs	Santa Barbara: 805-966-2811; Goleta: 805-967-1612. Confirm younger school-age fit.
Storyteller	805-682-9585. Ask about older preschool children or a family event.
Starr King Parent-Child Workshop	office@starrking-pcw.org. Older preschool/caregiver event.
Chaucer's Books	Author Event Interest Form. Currently full for 2026; propose 2027. Confirm presenter/book-sales arrangements.

- Also explore: Carpinteria Children's Project for family learning; Santa Barbara Humane for animal kindness; CALM for a complementary family event or referral.
- Later: Test an original parent guide or video product after live feedback. Avoid a large course investment before demand is demonstrated.
- Research status: Official routes checked October 1, 2026. Audience fit is a recommendation; budgets, host interest, and animal approvals are unconfirmed. No outreach has been sent.

Page 2: Copy, send, follow up

Library email

Subject: Children's author visit: stories, feelings, and animals

Hello,

I'm Brooklyn Landon, a Santa Barbara children's author and a former lead Montessori teacher in Vietnam. I'd love to propose a paid family reading featuring a book I've written about my dog.

- Designed for children ages 4-7 and their caregivers.
- Stories, animal facts, and simple activities about feelings, confidence, and kindness.
- One introductory visit or six visits every other week, with short caregiver take-home practices.

My dog is evaluated and registered for visits with children. Contact would be optional.

Who coordinates your children's programs, and when do you review guest-presenter proposals?

Thank you,

Brooklyn Landon

YMCA / nonprofit email

Subject: Author-led reading for your children and families

Hello,

I'm Brooklyn Landon, a Santa Barbara children's author and a former lead Montessori teacher in Vietnam. I'd love to propose a paid reading.

- Stories and animal curiosity introduce feelings, confidence, and kindness.
- Designed for ages 4-7; we'd confirm the appropriate group together.
- My evaluated and registered visiting dog would join us, with optional contact.

Would a family event or younger-child group fit? Who coordinates guest programs?

Thank you,

Brooklyn Landon

How often to contact them

- Default: Introduction + two follow-ups over three weeks. A call/DM can replace a follow-up.
- After 5-7 business days: “Would my proposed author visit fit upcoming family programming, or should I contact someone else? Thank you, Brooklyn.”
- After another 7-10 business days: “I'll leave this with you. Is there a better month to reconnect about children's programs? Thank you, Brooklyn.”
- Then pause: Reconnect in 8-12 weeks with a relevant update; stop after a decline.
- Exceptions: SBPL: form first, at most one routing inquiry after two weeks; replies are selective. Chaucer's: form first, wait at least two weeks. Follow each buyer's timeline.

Instagram / Facebook launch post

Stories can give children a way to talk about big feelings.

I'm Brooklyn Landon, a Santa Barbara children's author and a former lead Montessori teacher in Vietnam. I'm introducing readings for ages 4-7 and caregivers: stories, animal facts, feelings, confidence, and kindness, with my evaluated and registered visiting dog.

Libraries, preschools, YMCAs, and family organizations: message me about a paid visit. California travel can be arranged. Please share this with your program coordinator.

Short social post / Story

Santa Barbara: children's readings with my dog! Stories, animals, and big feelings for ages 4-7 and caregivers. Libraries and family organizations: message me about hosting. - Brooklyn Landon

- Post twice weekly: Use owned photos or cleared book art. Announce venues/dates once confirmed.